

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

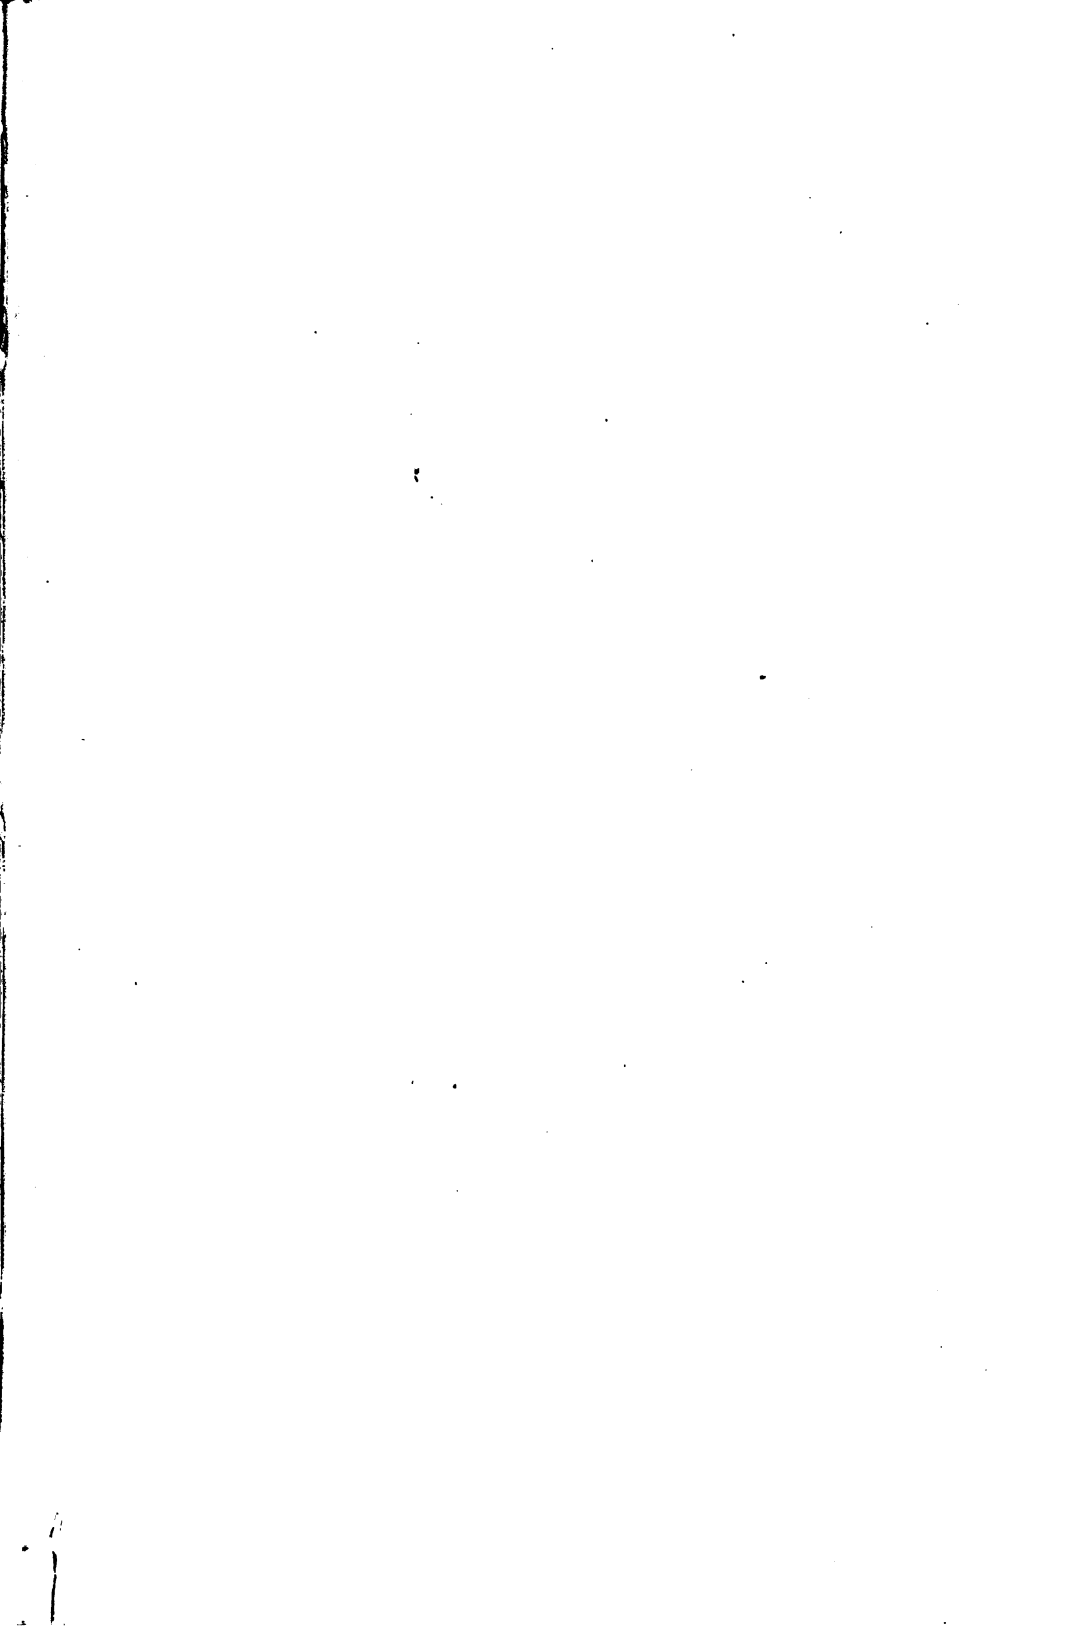

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

MCFARLAND GENEALOGY.

The first permanent English settlements in that part of the District of Maine now known as Hancock County date from near the year 1762.* By 1764 six townships of land, each six miles square, were granted by the General Court of Massachusetts to David Marsh and 352 other citizens of Massachusetts and New Hampshire. Six other townships on the east side of Donaqua River, three of them in Hancock County, were granted upon similar terms. The survey of the two grants of six townships on each side of the river was made by Samuel Livermore and the name of the river was changed to Union River, a name that it has since borne.

Even before the above grants were legalized by the General Court settlements began to be made in different parts of the county. In the spring of 1761, Capt. Abraham Somes of Gloucester, Mass., took up a land grant at the head of the inlet now known as Somes' Sound in Mount Desert, where he built a mill and made other improvements. In 1762, Col. Jonathan Buck and four other men from Haverhill, Mass., settled in Township No. 1, now Bucksport. Joseph Goss moved to No. 2 in 1764 and gave it the name Orland. The first permanent settler in Penobscot was Charles Hutchings in 1768. Township No. 5, now Blue Hill, was settled in 1762 by Joseph Wood and John Roundy from Beverly, Mass. In the same year a settlement was begun at Sullivan by Sullivan, Bean, Simpson and others. Benjamin Milliken settled in Ellsworth in 1763, which is also the date of the settlement of Eden by the Thomas family.

Trenton, which at first included Lamoine and parts of Hancock and Ellsworth, was first settled by Ebenezer Thorndike in 1765. The first permanent settlement in Hancock was made by Capt. Agreen

*A discussion of the early French settlements and land grants in Hancock County will be found in the author's forthcoming "History of Trenton and Lamoine."

Crabtree, Philip and Shemuel Hodgkins and their families. They came from the western part of Maine, Crabtree from Portland and the Hodgkins from the western part of Maine. These three families came up Skillings River in 1764 and settled on the east side of the river above the narrows. A year or two later the Hodgkins removed to the west side of the river (Marlboro). In 1765, Oliver Wooster and family came from Newburyport, Mass.

About this time Thomas and James McFarland, James Smith, and Rogers, Thomas and Joseph Googins began a settlement at Kilkenny stream,* at the head of Skillings River. The exact date of the coming of the McFarlands to Hancock County cannot be ascertained. That they came previous to 1768 is shown by an item in the account of Ebenezer Thorndike, agent for Township No. 1, (Trenton): "To going up Skillings River to forewarn McFarlands Co. from building a mill on their falls." The McFarlands and their companions came from the vicinity of Saco, in 1765, according to a tradition that has been handed down in the family of Thomas McFarland. The McFarland brothers married sisters, James marrying Margaret, and Thomas marrying Jane Smith about the year 1770, at Londonderry, N. H., it is said. With few exceptions, the McFarlands of Hancock County trace their ancestry back to these brothers, and, as will appear later, most of them are traceable to Thomas rather than to James McFarland.

James McFarland and his Descendants.

James McFarland, one of the early settlers at Kilkenny stream, Trenton, took up a lot of 54 acres 124 rods on the west side of Skillings River and adjoining the lot of his brother Thomas on the south where he engaged in farming and milling. His farm house was located about four rods south of the present road and thirty rods from the river bank. We have no knowledge of his parents or when and where he was born, nor of his wife's parents or the date and place of her birth.

During the Revolutionary War he was first Lieutenant in Capt. Daniel Sullivan's Company, Col. Benjamin Foster's 6th Lincoln Co. Militia Regt. and served at Machias. His commission was dated April 30, 1777; he was discharged Oct. 7, 1777. The Company was called out for service three times. The town records show that James McFarland was selectman of Trenton for several years. Late in life he moved to Grand Manan, N. B., where it is supposed he died in 1816-18. He married Margaret Smith, who died in Trenton in 1833-34. Their children (probably not in order) were:

(A.) Robert,* who probably settled at Grand Manan. (B.) Hannah, d. in Trenton in 1856, unmarried. (C.) Isabella, d. in Trenton in 1831, unmarried. (D.) Sally, b. April 29, 1779, m. Thomas McFarland, d. Feb. 1, 1867. (E.) Margaret, b. Dec. 27, 1780, m. Joseph Moore of Trenton, Dec. 10, 1799. (F.) Lucinda, d. in Trenton in 1836, unmarried. (G.) James, drowned at Grand Manan when a young man.

(E.) Margaret McFarland.

Margaret, daughter of James and Margaret (Smith) McFarland, married Joseph Moore, Jr., of Trenton, (Bayside), Dec. 10, 1799. Mr. Moore was born April 4, 1776, died Jan. 9, 1842. Their children were:

(1.) James, b. Feb. 18, 1800. (2.) Catherine, b. April 1, 1802. (3.) Sally, b. April 10, 1804. (4.) Nahum, b. March 10, 1806, died Aug. 17, 1841. (5.) Lemuel, b. April 1, 1808. (6.) Joseph 4th, b. March 11, 1810. (7.) Heard Lord, b. April 6, 1812, m. Bathsheba Higgins, April 11, 1840. (8.) Mary Jane, b. April 5, 1815. (9.) Calvin P., b. June 1, 1817. (10.) Belinda, b. June 1, 1817.

*Robert and Hannah, son and daughter of James and Margaret McFarland were baptised July 14, 1776. (Records, First Congregational Church, Biddeford, Me.)

Thomas McFarland and his Descendants.

Thomas McFarland, one of the pioneers of Hancock County and the first in a long line of the same name, was a man of large frame, six feet in height, with heavy but slightly rolling shoulders. He possessed unusual physical strength, was energetic, of a jolly disposition, and deeply interested in all that pertained to himself and his family.

The task that Thomas McFarland undertook in common with other pioneers of his time was that of carrying colonial civilization into the virgin wilderness of that region. At the time, Hancock County was unorganized and unknown by its present name, Maine was a District of Massachusetts, and the old Bay State itself a colony of Great Britain. The forest was felled, the log cabin built, saw mills constructed on the falls of the streams, corn planted in the small clearings. The frontiersman labored long and hard, his increase in fields and crops depended mostly upon the labor of his own hands, assisted by help from his children and his good wife, who in those days labored indoors and out of doors alike. We of a later day hardly realize that the good roads, and cleared acres, and framed houses that we have as an inheritance from our ancestors were purchased by them through days and years of manual labor. It was the work of a race of giants to build civilized homes in the primeval forest, and our knowledge of the early settlers shows that Thomas McFarland acquitted himself well in comparison with other pioneers of Hancock County.

He took up a lot of land of 43 acres 84 rods located north of the present county road and adjoining Kilkenny stream on the east and north. His title was received from the DeGregoires. His house was located about thirty rods west of the stream and twenty from the road. He engaged in farming and lumbering, and was part owner of the mills built on the lower falls; he also was owner of much timber land and of a saw mill built about twenty rods below the upper falls of the Kilkenny which he sold to Abner Lee in 1809. His son David settled on a part of his homestead and that part of his estate has always remained in the McFarland family; it is owned at present by his great grandson, Horace A. McFarland. We find the name of Thomas McFarland among the lists of officers of the town of Trenton many times. At the time of his death, November, 1824, he was living with his son David. During the day he had attended some kind of a public meeting and a short time after his return home he dropped dead, aged about eighty years. His wife died about two years previously.

Thomas McFarland married *Jane Smith in 1770. This venerable couple had eleven children and 107 grandchildren. Their children were:

(I.) James McFarland.

James, son of Thomas and Jane (Smith) McFarland, married Jane Patten of Ellsworth, Maine, in 1794. She was born Dec. 24, 1774, and died Feb. 21, 1832. James McFarland was a man of large stature and noble character. He settled in Surry near the Ellsworth line. In addition to his farming he worked as a millwright and ship-carpenter. Their children were:

(A.) Susanna, b. Sept. 18, 1796, d. 1863. (B.) Jane, b. Dec. 4, 1798, d. Oct. 30, 1870. (C.) Charlotte, b. Apr. 4, 1801. (D.) John, b. Nov. 28, 1803, d. July 21, 1857. (E.) James, b. July 19, 1805, lost at sea. (F.) Phoebe, b. Oct. 29, 1808, d. in infancy. (G.) George, b. May 28,

*On the monument erected in the cemetery on McFarland's Hill her name appears as Mary. This evidently is an error, for in a deed to Abner Lee in 1809 it is Jane. Tradition says that she was a sister to James Smith who settled in Kilkenny and that James Smith married a sister of the McFarland brothers.

(a.) George H., b. Nov. 12, 1883, d. in 1904. (b.) Ray O., b. Oct. 6, 1885. (c.) Noel C., b. Oct. 24, 1888.

Secondly, Nathaniel McFarland (VII), married Hannah, daughter of Robert & Mary (Berry) Gilpatrick of Lamoine, April 25, 1833. She was born Feb. 14, 1794, and died Oct. 12, 1869 in Waltham, Mass. Their only child, Mary Augusta, was born Sept. 23, 1834, died in Waltham, Mass., April 1, 1891. She married Thomas, son of Benjamin and Mary Ann (Young) King of Lamoine, Nov. 8, 1853. Their son, Thomas, was born in 1854, and is living in Waltham, Mass.

(VIII.) David McFarland.

David, son of Thomas and Jane (Smith) McFarland, settled on a part of his father's homestead lot. He built his house in 1822 on the north side of the present road and about one-fourth of a mile from Kilkenny stream. He engaged in farming and lumbering, and for many years had a grist mill. He was postmaster of North Hancock or many years, a deacon of the Baptist church, and a highly respected citizen. Firstly, he married Emma J., daughter of George and Hannah (Jordan) Haslem of Waltham. Secondly, he married Betsey, daughter of James and Betsey (Cook) Mosley of Hancock, pub. Feb. 18, 1817. She was born March 12, 1798, died in Sept. 1871. Her father was born in England and came to this country during the Revolutionary War as cabin-boy on a British man-of-war. He deserted the ship and later settled in that part of Hancock, west of Skillings River known as Marlboro.

David McFarland's only child by his first wife, Emma J. Haslem, was (A.) Emma J., born Nov. 26, 1811, died Aug. 11, 1856, at Dighton, Mass. She married Leonard S., son of Solomon and Sarah (Lord) Young of Lamoine. Mr. Young was born July 22, 1814, died June 4, 1860, in Dighton. Their children were:

- (1.) Leonard Ivy, b. Feb. 3, 1843. (2.) George W., b. Aug. 16, 1844, d. Nov. 28, 1890. (3.) Laura A., b. Nov. 5, 1846, d. May 5, 1871. (4.) Sarah Elizabeth, b. May 29, 1849. (5.) Willard P., b. Sept. 13, 1851, d. Oct. 25, 1851.

(B.) Samuel Newell McFarland.

Samuel Newell, son of David and Betsey (Mosley) McFarland, settled at Hancock Point on a lot of land north of and adjoining that of his brother-in-law, Ephraim Crabtree. In his early manhood he engaged in farming and fishing; later, when summer visitors began to frequent the region, he refitted his house for their accommodation and enlarged it until it became what is known as the Tarrantine Hotel. Mr. McFarland was intellectual, progressive and held in high esteem by his fellow citizens. That Hancock Point today is one of the attractive summer resorts of Frenchman's Bay is due, in no small degree, to his foresight and labor.

Mr. McFarland married, firstly, Hannah B., daughter of Samuel and Lucy (Bean) Crabtree. She died Aug. 24, 1885, aged 74 years.

Secondly, he married Mrs. Amelia B. Allen of Gouldsboro, Me., daughter of John and Lydia (Moore) Holway of Machias, Sept. 23, 1886. They had one child, (1.) Grace Newell.

(1.) Grace Newell McFarland.

Grace Newell, daughter of Samuel N. and Amelia (Allen) McFarland, was born at Hancock Point, Dec. 12, 1887. She is now a member of the Senior class at Mt. Holyoke College.

(C.) John Dean McFarland.

John Dean, son of David and Betsey (Mosley) McFarland, was a man of mechanical turn of mind, capable of building a ship from keel to truck or of constructing anything that came his way. He was a close student of military tactics and knew thoroughly the theoretical side of army maneuvers. Mr. McFarland was one of the first to respond to the call for volunteers in '61. He was foremost in organizing the first Ellsworth company, being its drill-master, and, at its formal organization April 29, 1861, he was elected second Lieutenant. The company later became Co. B of the Sixth Maine Regiment which was organized at Portland, July 15, and Lieutenant McFarland was appointed Adjutant of the regiment. He was injured by the bursting of a shell at the battle of White Oak Swamp, Va., June 30, 1862, and died at Citizens' Hospital, New York City, in August of that year.

General Winfield S. Hancock, in speaking of Adjutant McFarland in later years, said: "I consider Adjutant McFarland as brave a man as I ever had under my command." In a report* dated April 7, 1862, General Hancock writes: "I may mention here the names of several persons whose conduct was marked: (two of them were) Lieutenant-Colonel Chandler and First Lieutenant John D. McFarland, adjutant, Sixth Maine Volunteers. The latter, on horseback, took a prisoner within 150 paces of the enemy's battery, chasing him on horseback to that point in a direct range of the enemy's infantry and artillery, and in unobstructed view of the fort. The parapet was lined with infantry and the gunners were at their posts. The officer was not fired at, probably because he kept the prisoner between the fort and himself. . . . Lieut.-Col. Chandler and this Adjutant (McFarland) captured three other prisoners." And in the report of Gen. D. H. Keyes to General McClellan further mention of the incident is made as follows: "One of the prisoners was pursued 150 yards by Lieutenant McFarland on horseback directly toward the enemy's fort and in easy range of his guns, captured, and brought off. This act of gallantry deserves special notice."

John Dean McFarland married Emma J., daughter of Solomon and Sarah (Lord) Young, April 27, 1845. She was born Oct. 26, 1820 and died July 20, 1894. They settled near the home of his grandfather, Thomas McFarland. The house was burned in 1852 and the family moved to S. Thomaston in 1855, returning to N. Hancock in the fall of 1858. The family settled at Lamoine in 1865. Their children were:

- (1.) Daniel Young, b. Nov. 29, 1845. (2.) Abbie Ella, b. Nov. 21, 1847. (3.) Adelia Frances, b. July, 1850, d. Aug. 26, 1859. (4.) John W., b. Feb. 3, 1852. (5.) Charles M., b. Feb. 23, 1856.

(4.) John W. McFarland.

John W., son of John Dean and Emma J. (Young) McFarland, has followed the sea from boyhood. As a young man he was employed in American merchant marine engaged in the West Indian and South American trade. In 1874 he went to Gloucester and started in the fishing business, soon becoming master of a schooner. He early won a position in the front ranks of Gloucester skippers, a place which he has held ever since.

Capt. McFarland holds several records for high-line catch, big fares and quick voyages. In 1878 he landed the first fare of cod and haddock in the Boston markets from the faroff Le Have bank. In the Newfoundland winter herring fishery he made a record that still stands, being successful in one season in bringing to the New York market two successive fares of fresh herring before ice closed navigation on the Newfoundland shores. He has served several years as president of the Master Mariners' Association of Gloucester.
